Education Workforce Analysis Survey: Children and Young People’s Mental Health and Wellbeing

This questionnaire is aimed at any member of the workforces supporting the mental health and wellbeing for children and young people in schools.

This questionnaire is intended to provide information required to understand the current workforce capacity and capability to meet the needs of children, young people and their families in each of the five THRIVE needs based groups.

Services are being redesigned to align with the THRIVE framework (Wolpert et al., 2016). The framework puts an emphasis on the promotion of mental wellbeing and early intervention. Schools have a big part to play in both.

Introducing i-THRIVE

i-THRIVE is the implementation of the THRIVE conceptual framework (Wolpert et al., 2016), using an evidence based approach to implementation to translate the principles of THRIVE into models of care that fit with local context. i-THRIVE has been designed to enable provision of services that move towards delivery of a population health model for child mental health. It strives to ensure continuous quality improvement of services, drawing from evidence based implementation science to ensure that children, young people and families get the best possible outcomes.

The THRIVE framework was developed by a collaboration of authors from the Anna Freud National Centre for Children and Families and the Tavistock and Portman NHS Foundation Trust. THRIVE is an integrated, person centred and needs led approach to delivering mental health services for children, young people and families which conceptualises need in five categories; Thriving, Getting Advice, Getting Help, Getting More Help and Getting Risk Support. Emphasis is placed on prevention and the promotion of mental health and wellbeing and clients are empowered to be actively involved in decisions about their care through shared decision making.

The five THRIVE needs-based groups:

- THRIVING All children, young people and their families not currently needing individualised mental health advice or help are considered to be thriving. THRIVE would suggest that this group receive community initiatives that support mental wellness, emotional wellbeing and resilience of the whole population.

- GETTING ADVICE is for CYP and families adjusting to life circumstances who have mild or temporary difficulties, where the best approach is a brief intervention of 1-2 CAMHS appointments, with the possible addition of self-support via online or other resources.

- GETTING HELP is selected for CYP and families who would benefit from focused evidence based treatment with clear goals and the review of progress towards goals. On average 10 appointments would be offered, but the range would be wide, e.g. 1 year of weekly psychotherapy.

- GETTING MORE HELP is where the need is for intensive and potentially long-term treatment, for example for young people with neurodevelopmental disorders, psychosis or emerging personality disorder.
It is recognised that a significant number of CYP and families receiving Getting More Help are not benefiting from treatment but are being held in the CAMHS service solely because of concerns about risk and safeguarding. Such cases should be considered for Risk Support.

- GETTING RISK SUPPORT is where CYP and families are unable to benefit from treatment but they remain a significant concern and risk. Anticipated outcomes are realistically conservative, and there needs to be close interagency collaboration, which includes CAMHS as part of the network. The CAMHS role is usually one which supports the system. One is transparent with families that this is the approach that is being taken.

Consent and Confidentiality

You are invited to participate in this survey designed by the Anna Freud National Centre for Children and Families to support the implementation of THRIVE across children and young people’s mental health and wellbeing services.

This survey should take about 20 minutes to complete. Your participation in this study is entirely voluntary and you can withdraw at any time. You are also free to omit any question.

If you don’t know the answer to any of the questions, don’t worry, it is not expected that everyone will have all the answers. Please just tick the “don’t know” option and move on.

The results of this survey will be used to inform a mapping document which we will share with participants so knowledge of ‘what’s out there’ is shared across the system.

We will minimize any risks of confidentiality breach by limiting the people accessing the raw data to the Project Manager and the Project Officer. Raw data will be destroyed once the project has reached its completion.

Many thanks for contributing to the development and improvement of local services for children and young people’s mental health. Your time and the information you provide is very much appreciated.
